DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6, drawn to method of die temperature control, classified in class 374, subclass 102.
 - II. Claims 7-12, drawn to computer readable medium, classified in class 165, subclass 237+.
 - III. Claim 13, drawn to a die-casting machine, classified in class 29.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions III and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions Invention II is directed to a computer medium not necessarily required to control the device of Invention III. Invention III is directed to a die-casting machine that requires a cooling line not required by Invention II.
3. Inventions III and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, Invention III does not require the method of invention I, because Invention III does not require a feedback control required by the method of Invention I.

Art Unit: 2859

4. Inventions II and I are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, Invention I is directed to a method of temperature control of a die, while Invention II is directed to a computer readable medium not necessarily used with the method of Invention I because the method of Invention I does not require a computer and computer readable medium, the instructions of method of Invention I can be completed with another control device.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art cited in the PTO-892 and not mentioned above disclose related devices and methods.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to the Examiner Verbitsky who can be reached at (571) 272-2253 Monday through Friday 8:00 to 4:00 ET.
